

Oregon Public Health Association

Working together to make health happen

Public Health Nursing in Healthcare Reform: Leading Practice, Research and Education Innovations

OPHA Nursing Section Spring Conference

Monday, May 15, 2017, 8:00 - 4:00

University of Portland, Bauccio Commons, Portland, OR.

- 8:00-8:15 Welcome & Continental Breakfast
- 8:15-9:45 Panel on Public Health Nursing Practice:
Opportunities and Emerging Challenges in the Current Landscape: Perspectives of Public Health Directors
- Charlie Fautin, MPH, RN; Benton County, Oregon
 - Patty Hayes, MN, RN; King County, Washington
- 9:45-10:00 BREAK
- 10:00-12:00 Round Tables on Public Health Nursing (PHN) Practice, Education, and Research (2 rotations):
Public Health Nursing Practice Innovations
- Quick Tips for Creating a Trauma Informed Care Environment – A Café Approach
 - The State of Oregon’s Public Health Nursing Workforce
 - CCO Program for Perinatal Home Visits
- Public Health Nursing Education Innovations
- Leading a Population Health-focused Nursing Curriculum Transformation within the Context of Healthcare Reform.
 - Developing an Interdisciplinary Integrative and Population Health Promotion Degree Program: Possibilities for Nursing Education.
 - Understanding the Options: MN, MPH, DNP
- Public Health Nursing Research Innovations
- Women’s Health in Sub-Saharan Africa
 - The Impact of the Policy Brief on Public Health Nursing
 - The Role of the Nurse Practicing in the School Setting: Advantages and Challenges
- 12:00-1:00 Lunch and OPHA Public Health Nursing Award Ceremony
- 1:00-2:00 Panel on Public Health Nursing Education:
Education Innovations at the Baccalaureate: Perspectives of Associate Deans
- BSN Curriculum Revision: Leading the transformation of UP’s BSN program to address emerging roles in population health nursing. Casey Shillam, PhD, RN-BC; University of Portland SON
 - Interprofessional Care Access Network (I-CAN): Scaling health professions education in population health statewide. Peggy Wros, PhD, RN; Oregon Health & Science University SON
- 2:00-2:15 BREAK
- 2:15-3:15 Panel on Public Health Nursing Research:
Innovations in Environmental Justice and Physical Activity: Researcher Perspectives
- Nursing and Environmental justice: Re-envisioning engagement and action for 21st century practice. Robin Evans-Agnew, PhD, RN; University of Washington SON, Tacoma, WA
 - Physical Activity as avenue to addressing health disparities. Cynthia Perry, PhD, FNP-B.C.; Oregon Health & Science University SON
- 3:15-4:00 PHN Networking, Conference Reflection, and Closure.

 We are grateful to the University of Portland School of Nursing for their generous support of this event*