

Thinking Outside the Box: Collective Impact to Reduce Health Disparities

AUTHOR(S): Belle Shepherd, Caryn Wheeler, Hannah Ancel

PRESENTATION FORMAT: 15 minute oral presentation

TOPIC/TARGET AUDIENCE: Healthy Environment, Community health workers, federally qualified health centers, local public health, accreditation, strategic planning

ABSTRACT: A confluence of events at Federal, State, and local levels has made partnering to improve community health increasingly necessary. By organizing partnerships around values and aligning priorities, agencies and communities are able to develop new and innovative approaches to improving health outcomes for all. This panel will explore the ways CCOs, local public health, and not for profit agencies can work together to improve health outcomes.

OBJECTIVE(S): Describe new and creative ways to mitigate the impacts of food deserts.
Design a high-level asset map to assist in the development of innovative ways to approach health disparities.
Identify new opportunities for collaboration in your communities.

PRIMARY CONTACT INFORMATION:

Caryn Wheeler, MPH
Healthy Communities & Accreditation Coordinator
Jackson County Health & Human Services
Medford, OR
541-770-7702 | Caryn.Wheeler@jacksoncounty.org

CO-PRESENTER(S):

Belle Shepherd | belle.shepherd@state.or.us
Hannah Ancel | hancel@accesshelps.org