

Tell our policymakers: Climate change is a public health emergency.

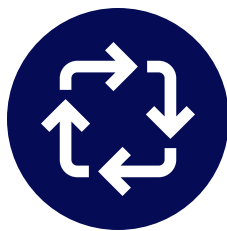

Add your name to Oregon's
Call to Action on Climate, Health, & Equity.

As Oregon's leading health professionals and organizations—representing public health, health care, health systems, and community health organizations—we call on Oregon leaders to prioritize these recommendations to protect the health of Oregonians.

Spread the word to other health professionals, students, and organizations and encourage them to sign their name and have their voices heard!

Our Oregon Call to Action on Climate, Health, & Equity proposes climate action for health & health action for climate.

Advance climate solutions that promote climate justice and health equity.

Engage the health sector and the community in climate policy and action.

Invest in coordinated strategies for both climate action and health.

We believe that all people, including future generations, have the right to the environmental, economic and social resources needed to live healthy and productive lives in Oregon.

It's time to take action.
